XXI International scientific conference
Astronomical School of Young Scientists
Ukraine, Uzhhorod, May, 21 – 23, 2019

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

Kyiv – Uzhhorod (Kolochava). 2019

The conference is organized by Faculty of Geography of Uzhhorod National University, Department of Aerospace Geodesy of National Aviation University, Ukrainian Astronomical Association, and Union of Planetariums of Ukraine.

Scientific topics:

1. Problems of cosmology and cosmogony.
 2. Physics of Solar system bodies.
 3. Structure and evolution of stars and stellar systems.
 4. Astrodynamics, navigation, satellite geodesy and gravimetry.
 5. Geographic information systems and aerospace remote sensing.
 6. Astronautics and dynamics of variable mass bodies.
 7. Earth sciences (geodesy, geography, geodynamics, geoecology).
 8. Didactics in physics, mathematics, geography and natural sciences.

Astronomical School aims to promote scientific research of students and post-graduate students in natural and mathematical sciences (astronomy, space exploration, geodesy, geoinformatics, geography, geoecology) and to propagate knowledge that forms the scientific view of the world. Young scientists submit their researches to the scientific committee of the Astronomical School. Astronomical expert council reviews these scientific works and recommends them to be published in leading scientific journals.

Participation is open to university professors, post-graduate students, teachers, students and pupils. They should submit abstracts and registration forms by e-mail until May 12, 2019 to the address of scientific committee. Program and abstracts will be published prior to beginning of the conference. Abstracts are allowed in Ukrainian, Russian or English. Abstracts size is up to 1 page. Scientific papers will be published in the “Astronomical School’s Report” journal, which is indexed by academic databases: Index Copernicus, NASA Astrophysics Data System (ADS), Google Scholar, DOAJ. Deadline for submission of materials to the “Astronomical School’s Report” is until August 1, 2019. Invited reports (lectures) must be up to 16 pages, all the others – up to 8 pages.
